CCM commends Governor on assistance to towns and cities for road salt

The Connecticut Conference of Municipalities today (Friday, February 14) commended Governor Malloy for his timely response and direct assistance to towns and cities across the state to ensure an adequate supply of road salt is available to local governments to continue their efforts so roadways are plowed and salted and provide for the safest possible driving by Connecticut residents and businesses. As a former Mayor, the Governor is most sensitive to the importance of this critical local government responsibility.
